

SCOUTS PROVE THEIR METTLE DURING OVERNIGHT THUNDERSTORM

Eldot's fourth novel Thunder and Lightning is more action filled than ever

Portland OR, August 1, 2011—Once again, fans have prevailed; the release date was moved up a month. Like the previous three books in the Little J and Roger series, it appears as an e-book in two versions, simultaneously. At Smashwords it is converted into all e-book reader formats. At Diphra.com, the premium PDF version simulates a print book, including page numbers and detailed indexing. Numerous extra features, supplemental information, and samples are available at the websites. [<http://www.diphra.com> and <http://www.littlejandroger.com>]

Eldot continues his coming of age novel with more fast-paced activity. The second fun filled week at camp continues with surprises, challenges, successes and a few disappointments. There are romances, and there are lots of extra-curricular activities. Tony in particular has a good time.

The ninth day at Camp Walker begins just after midnight at the lake. Robin and Jack complete their overnight adventure, though not without a surprise. They are able to make it back to their camps undetected, but only just.

Many stories are in play, making this the most action packed book in the series. Geoff continues his quest to seduce scoutmaster Mark; will he succeed, or settle for his pursuit of Leonard? Will Danny's plans for Julian proceed smoothly? Will Tom and Nick's Love Palace remain undiscovered? Will Freddy and Andy's "tournament" be a success? And will Kurt remain satisfied with Sid? Will Julian and Mark continue to flourish, or will their relationship be tested?

The weather springs a surprise on Wednesday, and an accident at the lake brings unexpected opportunities. Several camp staff members come to the fore, including the jolly Medical Officer and the curmudgeonly Quartermaster.

Thunder and Lightning is 105, 300 words
